Hi Jacqui

So boots and bandages are also illegal but you are allowing them?

Hi Paula

Thank you for the photo and further information. As an affiliated dressage club we are required to abide by the national dressage rules which do not permit bitless bridles at competitions. Our event flyer and notice to competitors both advise that we must follow the rules from EA. Our understanding is it will affect our insurance if we do not follow this rule, and due to the event being tomorrow we are unable to liaise with EA about this issue prior to the competition.

We will reach out to EA following the event about this rule for Closed Unrestricted classes for our competitions next year but unfortunately we can't allow it for the competition tomorrow.

I am sorry for the back and forth but it is the decision of the Committee.

Regards

Jacqui

Hi again

Sorry, please see attached pic. I don't see why this would be such a problem. Most people don't even notice?

Hi Jacqui

That doesn't make sense, I ride bitless in jumping competitions at EP all the time; why would the insurance be different?
Can I not just be eliminated at the gear check as if I'd used an illegal bit?

Thanks

Paula

Hi Paula

As per my phone message, the committee has advised that due to insurance and EA rules you can't ride bitless.

As mentioned in my message you can either ride with a bit or I can scratch you from the tests and fully refund you as you are not permitted to ride bitless at a dressage competition according to the EA rules.

I am sorry for the back and forth.

Here is a refund form if you'd want to scratch.

Cheers

Jacqui

Hi Paula

Thanks for the email and bridle number for Freya. I apologise for the delay in responding.

In terms of the bitless bridles for both horses, I have discussed with the committee and yes it is not permitted, I will have to confirm with the EA Steward on the day and let her know, and she may need to eliminate you, however I will ask that it be done after you have received your test papers through Nominate. Before I do that, is there a reason they are ridden bitless? I am worried that there could be complaints for riders. So I want to make sure I have all the facts correct.

Cheers

Dear Organiser

I hope you're well.

I have entered Freya and Leo in Prelim 1.2 and Novice 1.2 respectively this coming weekend. Apologies – I accidentally put “TBA” for Freya’s bridle number. Her correct number is 10436.

I also have a small request regarding Freya & Leo: I would very much like to ride them bitless. I completely understand that the rules do not permit bitless bridles in regular classes and that this will probably mean elimination or riding Hors Concours. I’m verv hannv to ride H/C if that makes things easier for you or to be eliminated

Very happy to hear that it makes things easier for you, or to be eliminated after the test so I can still receive my sheet and feedback (whichever is simplest for the judges and scorers).

I really don't want to scratch, as we've been looking forward to this show, but equally I want to respect the rules and not cause any hassle.

Would you mind letting me know if either of those options is possible? I'm grateful for any flexibility you can offer.

Thank you so much for your time and for running the event!
